

Karina,

I feel like I've said to you literally every thing I could say to you. And I'm not good with words, you know that. But I'll try. Wow, at the beginning of this year I would never have expected that we would be friends but God is funny and he likes to throw people together and be like hey, look now you guys are friends. I mean, there are many factors that could have prevented us from being friends, but somehow we found each other. Still in awe how a girl from Pennsylvania, a girl from California, and a girl from Ohio came together and formed OHPACA which is an inseparable bond. But anyway, this year has been super great. I will forever cherish all the great memories we've made together from late night outings to sitting in each others' rooms for hours or outside Sam's door or yelling at strangers, stomping in puddles, dancing on Siebert lawn, and all the many laughs and cries. It's been a ride. We've been at the highest of highs together but also the lowest of lows. It's been hard, but I wouldn't trade it for anything. Like I said, I don't really know what to say because you know how much you mean to me. I speak my mind. Also, I'm bad with words. I mean, there's a reason I'm a scientific major. So, I guess I'll just end with this. How am I supposed to live an entire summer without any OHPACA adventures???? I mean I know I'll be at LT, but still good thing we all got House Party. We better talk all the time or I shall die. Okay, I love you. That is all.
